

9/5/2018

To whom it may concern

Hello, my name is [REDACTED], I am a food engineer working in the meat industry.

I would like to see exporting of live stock completely banned from Australia.

Why do we need to export our animals to countries where they are slaughtered in a way that mostly does not conform to our standards?

Would it not be much better to create jobs in Australia by slaughtering these animals here and then send the carcasses overseas?