

Bejo

Vicki Bazan

Our Company produces and exports vegetable seed to the Netherlands for re-export to other countries. At the commencement of the season we know the product, destination country and pack type. Example: BER/NL/BAG. The combination of these three has to be linked to the relevant declaration in MICoR. We have been told that we must not request the linking of the combination to the declaration until we get an error message from rejection of an RFP. In one particular case this season it took two weeks to get a request uploaded. (The botanical name in the NDH document hub product listing did not match the botanical name in MICoR. The product listing had one botanical name for the product and another for the seed of the same product) It would be much more efficient for us if we could request the linking of prod/dest/pk type and relevant declaration at the beginning of each season and iron out any potential problems before we begin exporting.